Dear Brian,

Purchases of Commercial Factor VIII

Thank you for your letter of 26th November. The answer to your questions are as follows:

1. No.
2. My only purchase has been of relatively high purity factor VIII. As you know the use of this product is very spasmodic. The total quantity used is very small particularly with regard to our total usage. I understand that PFC is currently developing a very high purity product and I would anticipate that when this is produced it will supercede the small purchase of commercial material.
3. I cannot give you an accurate projection but I would anticipate it would be similar to last year.

I hope these have answered your questions fully, but please come back to me if you would like further clarification.

With best wishes,
Yours sincerely,
