Dear

MRC Blood Transfusion Research Committee

I have today heard that the Medical Research Council has disbanded their Blood Transfusion Research Committee, on the grounds that the work of the Committee was being duplicated elsewhere.

I deeply regret this development. However, I believe the time is now opportune to consider the establishment of a U.K. Transfusion Services' Research Committee. I have discussed the matter with Dr Harold Gunson and have every reason to believe that the proposal will have the fullest support from both Harold Gunson and Bill Wagstaff.

I would be most grateful if you would reflect on the topic. It is my intention to see that it is placed on the Agenda of our next Directors' Meeting (14th September, 1982).

Kindest regards,

Yours sincerely

John D Cash
