NON A NON B PAPER FOR LANCET

Yes, there is undoubtedly a problem of facing in both directions. I have asked Jack not to send the paper off until the three of us have a chance to talk this through. The obvious difficulty is that on 'commercial competitive' grounds we need to introduce screening but on scientific and 'value for money for the health service' grounds we should be opposing it. I don't know if there is any way out of the dilemma. I am happy to remove my name from the paper but I don't really think that would solve anything.
